Welcome to the actuarial profession!

ActEd is offering a free webinar to help new actuarial students get orientated. It will cover:

- an outline of the examination system
- choosing which subjects to take in a sitting
- adjusting from university study to studying around a full-time job
- choosing appropriate study and revision materials
- how to make the most of the study materials and other resources.

There will also be time to answer any questions you may have.

The webinar is scheduled for 1pm on Friday 13 October 2023 and should last around an hour. There is no need to pre-register but places are limited to the first 100 participants.

Preparation

In order to take part you will need a PC or laptop with speakers or headphones, a broadband internet connection and an internet browser.

You should test your setup to check that you have the relevant software installed and connection/speed requirements (you may be asked to update an Adobe plug-in for your browser): https://my.adobeconnect.com/common/help/en/support/meeting_test.htm

You should set your screen resolution to 1024 by 768 or better (lower resolutions can cause some writing to become grainy). It is possible to view the webinar using an iPad and an App (that can be downloaded from the App Store). However, at present we recommend that you use a PC or laptop instead, because connecting this way offers you more functionality during the webinar than using the App.
